Profile

I have been a professional artist for almost 20 years, having played the vast majority of major stages in the country as an actor, as well as many of the countries best music venues with my brother Luke and our band Doxology. These pursuits, coupled with my efforts as a stage director, producer, music director, conductor, writer, composer, designer and teacher, have afforded me a particularly wide breadth of perspective on, as well as knowledge and practical control of the creative process in all of it's facets. It is my desire to find and cultivate new and innovative avenues with which to bring this professional artistic experience and ongoing work to bare on the education, training and directing of the next generation of great, young artists.
